Another Victory

SPLENDID SHOWING IN SATURDAY'S GAME

Defeat Richmond 17 to 0

OUTPLAY THE SOUTHERN BOYS AT EVERY STAGE.—STEENERSON DOES FINE WORK AT QUARTER.

This score tells the story of the second victory for the George Washington University foot ball team. The game Saturday afternoon on University Field was the prettiest yet played by the Orange and Blue athletes. The team work was vastly superior to that displayed in the game with Randolph-Macon, and there was no comparison in the style of play Saturday and that demonstrated in the game with Western Maryland. In the latter contest the entire squad seemed to be overcome with a comfortable lethargy, which they were unable to shake off until it was too late. In the game with Richmond, however, the team and individual work was everything that could be desired. The splendid work of Coach Rorke during the entire week was apparent throughout the thirty-five minutes of play. On end runs the interferences were superb, and in the line plays every man was in his place, pushing and straining every muscle to carry the ball towards the coveted goal. The Orange and Blue was hidden during the game by the new jerseys the men are wearing, consisting of the buff and blue colors. The new colors stood out conspicuous, and it was noticeable that in all the scrimages the white looking bodies were always in the thick of the fight,—none hung on the outskirts—where the fight was the thickest could be seen the gridiron warriors of the new university.

It would be a very hard matter to say which of the men played the best game. As individuals and as a team they played great foot ball. The line was strong on the offensive and impregnable on the defensive. The back field was fast and effective in their charges and ever ready with a sure tackle on the few occasions when a Richmonder got past the line. Possibly the most satisfactory development in the game was the star work of Steenerson at quarterback. Steenerson began working in this position the first of last week, but he played quarterback like a veteran. No fumbles were made, and his passes were perfect. In addition to this good work, he made several fine end runs, two of them resulting in touchdowns. Coach Rorke may congratulate himself upon the development of such a fine quarterback. Frank Law shone brilliantly at left tackle. He broke through Richmond's line at will and made many effective tackles. His line bucking was a feature. Time and time again Steenerson called "left tackle back," and drove Law into the line like a battering ram. He never failed to gain his distance. The other "Frank" did some splendid line bucking, too. Frank West was there with the good when ever called upon. He did not punt but once during the game, but that one was a beauty. The ball soared down the field for fifty yards, and Law and Morris tackled Mench as he picked the ball up from the ground. Stevenson played his usual star game at right half back. Unfortunately he was hurt in the early part of the game by being kicked in the side and was forced to retire, Stivers taking his place. Stivers was later on replaced by Kirkman, who scored a touchdown. Winston made the spectacular play of the day, a fine sixty yard run to Richmond's fifteen yard line.

Steenerson kicked off to Richmond's 20 yard line, and Fraiser, who caught the ball, was tackled before he could gain a yard. On the second play Richmond fumbled and Winston picked the ball up and made seven yards before he was downed. Steenerson massed a fake play on the right tackle and ran around Richmond's left end for a touchdown. He forgot and touched the ball down, which is a violation of the rules on a quarterback run, and he was deprived of the right to kick a goal.

Washington again kicked off to Richmond, and the visitors made several yards on line plays. In one of the plays Stevenson was badly hurt, and it was claimed by the local players that a Richmond man kicked him in the side. However, he pluckily stayed in the game, and as soon as his side secured the ball he skirted Richmond's right end for one of his spectacular runs. He was forced outside and made but twenty yards, although he was not tackled until he had covered forty-five yards. Richmond held their opponents after this for two downs and West was called upon for a punt. He sent the ball far down the field, and then George Washington held Richmond for downs and secured the ball. After two or three line plays Steenerson rushed around left end on a quarterback run and scored his second touchdown, which he converted into a goal. Score, George Washington, 11; Richmond College, 0.

In the second half Stivers was substituted for Stevenson, and he did some very good work. After a few plays George Washington lost the ball on downs. Richmond then tried a few end runs and Frasier broke through and passed everybody but Steenerson. It looked as though he would get past, but "Steenie" was there with a sure tackle. The home team secured the ball on downs, and then began a steady march down the field, Stivers, Law, Winston and Steenerson taking turns in advancing the ball. On Richmond's twenty yard line Kirkman was sent in to take Stivers' place, and on the first play he skirted the right end for a touchdown. Steenerson kicked a pretty goal. Score, George Washington, 17; Richmond College, 0.

Only a few minutes remained to play, but on the first play after the kick off, Winston rushed around Richmond's left end on a long sixty yard run. On the next play the ball was knocked out of Steenerson's hands and as he plunged into the mix-up on a quarterback run. The game was called before George Washington could recover the ball.

On next Wednesday the University team plays the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Manager Lowe announces that he has obtained a rate of $1.56 for the round trip over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and provided a party of thirty can be secured a special car will be placed at his disposal. The management is especially anxious to have a large party accompany the team and urgently requests every one to do his best to go. The Class Presidents are requested to make a personal canvass of their classes and urge the members take the trip. The team will leave about nine in the morning from the B & O depot.

A game will be played on Wednesday afternoon between the Second University team and the Technical High School. The scrubs have been putting up good ball and the Tech team is said to be remarkably strong so a good game may be looked for. Several other games will be arranged for the second team.

A game has been scheduled for November 5th with Johns Hopkin's and negotiations are under way with Eastern College of Front Royal for a game here on October 29th. The filling of these two dates completes our schedule which now includes, Gallaudet, Navy, Eastern College, Johns Hopkins, Maryland Medical and Georgetown.

The foot ball team wishes to acknowledge its thanks to Miss Ethel Smith for the foot ball poster, now displayed in the window at Spaulding's.

The Mass Meeting

A mass meeting in the interest of the foot ball team was held on Friday. The classes had all been suspended and the attendance resulting from this was more than gratifying. The Law School occupied the lower floor, while the College and Medical School divided up the gallery.

The utmost enthusiasm prevailed, and different yells were given at short intervals. The G-E-O-R-G-E Washington was heard often intermingled with those of the different departments and classes. The '06 Law, the Ki Yi and the old Columbian, now used by the College, rung out above the others.

Dr. Needham and the faculty were greeted with loud cheers as they entered the hall and took their seats upon the stage.

President Needham, Coach Rorke and Professor Earnest all spoke, assuring the student body of the support and interest of the faculty and their intention to stand by the men who are giving up their time to the team.

Professor Earnest read a letter from Mr. Barry Bulkley, consenting to give his lecture on Yellowstone Park, for the benefit of the foot ball team and another from Mr. Lockett of the Columbia Theater, offering that theater for the lecture at any time which should be set.

The last speaker, President Garrison of the Athletic Association made an earnest plea for the student support, the only thing, he said, which was now needed to make a successful season.

The meeting certainly accomplished its end in arousing interest and bringing about a thorough understanding of the prevalent condition in athletics.

Next letter see, quite plain, in treasure.
I'm found in France in England, too;
In China and in Timbuctoo;
In Uncle Sam, and American Blue—
A color that is tried and true;
I'm found in three, also in nine,
And very plain in moving sign
Which from our front is seen at night,
Telling all where to buy things right.
Find me next in "Finish and Make;"
In "Shirts and Collars and Underwear,"
The best to be bought anywhere.

Debating Notes

The Columbian Debating Society requests the honor of your presence at an informal reception to the members of the first year Law Class, University Library, Friday evening, October 14, at 8 o'clock.

The University Library, on Friday, October 14, was the scene of a very pleasant informal reception given by the Columbian Debating Society which was attended by nearly one hundred guests.

The library was gaily decorated with the University colors. The piano was moved into the library from the west hall, and amid the pleasing strains of music by Mr. Alden, the members of the Debating Society extended a warm hand of welcome and made the visitors feel perfectly at home with their new surroundings and acquaintances.

This is the first time in the history of the Debating Society that a reception has been tendered to the incoming law class, and judging from the success which attended this reception, it is sincerely hoped that this feature will become a custom of the University.

While the primary object of the reception was to engender interest and enthusiasm in debating work, and to impress the new men with the importance of affiliating themselves with one of the debating societies and taking an active part in debating work, yet in a broader sense, it gave the newcomers an opportunity to become acquainted with the older members of the University as well as themselves, and to feel that they have become an active part in this great institution.

About 9:30 Mr. Baldwin, the president of the society, rapped for order, and made an opening address of welcome and a few happy remarks as to the past achievements and future hopes of the society, and then introduced Mr. Tellier, who spoke upon the value of debating, the art of public speaking, and the necessity for young men who aspire to the profession of law to take an active part in debating to properly fit themselves for practice in this noble profession.

Mr. Tellier was followed by Mr. Edelstein, who spoke upon the subject and value of inter-collegiate debates. He pointed out the manner in which the men on the teams were selected from the various candidates, and gave an outline of the method of procedure in preparing for participation in the preliminary contests as well as the inter-collegiate debates themselves. He cautioned those that contemplated entering into the work, that it necessitated exhaustive research on both sides of the question, brief drawing, a logical and orderly presentation of the subject, a proper distribution of the argument among the members of the team, and perfect team work to win. He dwelt upon the importance of rebuttal work, and the absolute necessity that every man on the team have at his immediate command the proper argument to answer the important arguments that may be advanced by the opposing side.

The next speaker was Prof. Earnest. On behalf of the faculty, he assured those present that the debating societies would have the hearty co-operation and support of the members of the faculty. He congratulated the society on the excellent work that had been done and the victories of last year, and stated that the University was proud of the high standard attained in inter-collegiate debating.

Mr. Woodwell was next introduced and facetiously remarked that he was requested, over his protest, to read a poem rendered last spring at the reception given to the winning teams in inter-collegiate debates; that since his demurrer was overruled, he would put in a plea of not guilty, and hope to receive a favorable verdict from the jury. The poem in question follows:

Our Winning Debaters

We won the debates, and we won them hands down,

They brought to Columbian the greatest renown.

Virginia went down, and so did Georgetown,
And here are the men wearing victory's crown.

We'll give them the praise; and when you are cheering

Remember the name of Milton M. Deering.
In automobiling the winner is Winton,

But in our debating the hero is Hinton.
And in the rebuttal there's none to talk back

To our own invincible Harold J. Pack.
Georgetown was full of the subject, 'tis true,

But our man was Fuller, as every one knew,
And Littlepage told them things they did not know,

And taught them to see they were not the whole show.

We only had three; they were good as a nine,
And last, but not least, was our great Edelstein.

When our team plays ball they are doomed to defeat,

But when we debate we will always beat,
Now give them the honor, and cheer them again;

So here's to the teams, our victorious men.

Much merriment was created by Prof. Clephane, who was the next speaker, in referring to Prof. Earnest's closing remarks that what he had stated would be repeated by the other members of the faculty present. He requested the indulgence of the audience if he did not exactly follow the remarks of Prof. Earnest, as he was not given any warning that he was required to do so, and therefore had not taken any notes. Prof. Clephane is a charter member of the Columbian Debating Society, which was organized some fifteen years ago, and congratulated the society on the remarkable strides which it has taken since its organization. At that time, he stated, it never entered the minds of the charter members that the society would participate in inter-collegiate debates, or take such an important part in University life. He also dwelt at some length of the necessity of every lawyer to be able to clearly and ably express himself upon his feet, not only in the prosecution or defense of cases before the bar, but also to enable him to take an active part in the legislative halls of this country. He was particularly pleased to note that the men who have represented this University in the inter-collegiate debate confined themselves to arguments, instead of paying compliments to the ladies or amusing the audience, as was done by some of the debaters in the Virginia and Georgetown teams; and that the presentation of arguments of our debaters was conspicuous for the team work displayed, which was largely responsible for their success.

Prof. Vance, in his usual pleasing and effective style, next addressed the meeting. He expressed his regret that he had not taken a more active part in debating during his college life, and impressed upon the new members the importance of joining one of the debating societies and becoming proficient in the art of debate. He emphasized the fact that one of the greatest mistakes a student can make is to crowd his mind full of learning and at the same time neglect taking the proper training to be able to impart that knowledge to others.

The last speaker of the evening was Mr. Morris, who urged enthusiasm on the part of the students in debating work. In view of the importance of debating in a lawyer's training, he believed it was the duty of every student immediately to join a society and not put the matter off until too late.

At the end of the programme, refreshments were served.

During the remainder of the evening class yells were given and good fellowship and Dr. Needham's "university spirit" was manifested on every hand.

A large number of new members were enrolled, and judging from those present, some very good debating material will be developed to carry on the good work of last year.

On Friday, October 21, at 8 p. m. in Jurisprudence Hall, the election of officers of the society for the present semester will take place, and a spirited contest for the presidency is anticipated, the candidates mentioned being Messrs. Barrett and Tellier.

A cordial invitation is extended to all the members of the Law School to attend the meetings of the society. S. E.

Shortly after eight o'clock on Friday evening last, Mr. James H. Price, President of the Needham Debating Society of the Schools of Law of the University, called the society to order for the first assigned debate of the new session.

Pleasure was depicted on every member's countenance at the opportunity of seeing familiar faces once more; and as the discussion was to be upon a political topic the reason was not difficult to be ascertained why the old battle-horses were wearing such eager expressions for the word to engage in the oratorical combat.

The question for debate was, "Resolved, That a man should vote the republican ticket because it is the best party," Messrs. Bone, Christian, and Beeler supporting the affirmative, with Messrs. Woods, Patterson, and Hickox on the negative. The argument on both sides was quite spirited and interesting and the judges, consisting of Messrs. Waite, Hathaway, and Dobbins, rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative, awarding first and second honors to Messrs. Bone and Beeler respectively.

Several visitors were present and a number of members were enrolled.

The question to be debated on Friday night is: "Resolved, That the doctrines and principles advocated by the democratic party adhere more closely to our Federal Constitution than those of any other party."

The speakers selected are the following, affirmative, Price Hellerstedt and Thompson; negative, Kelly, Dobbins and Calder.

The Co Eds

There is an unusually large Freshman Class this year, the new girls in the College proper, numbering thirty-three. They seem well pleased with the prospect of four years among us; and are particularly gratified by the cordial welcome which has been extended to them by the older girls. The Freshman girls take this opportunity of showing their appreciation of the courtesies they have received.

Miss Catharine McIlhenny, of the Class of 1904, is studying French and German at the Berlitz School.

The College Department is very glad to welcome back Miss Mabel Magofin, who was unable to finish her course last year.

Early in the week Miss McCleary gave a tea for the College girls, at her home 217 I street. After an hour's chat, dainty refreshments were served. It was a delightful occasion, and takes its place as another reminder of the many pleasant social features of life at George Washington. Among those present were: Misses Watkins, Taylor, Albert, McCoy, Stevens, Towers, Cochran, Evans, McIlhenny, McPherson, Loughran, Barber, Helen Evans, White, Person, and Bethune.

Since the opening of College, quite a little interest on the part of the girls has been manifested in tennis. Frequent trips have been made to the courts between recitations, which seems to indicate that there is more than last year's enthusiasm over the game. Last week the girls got up a tennis party, and after several well contested sets, had a picnic luncheon on the grounds.

This year the girls are evincing great interest in athletics. Many of the new girls, fresh from gymnasium work in high or preparatory school, are considering the feasibility of organizing a girls' athletic association. Some such scheme as this was attempted last year, but failed of the success it promised. But the large number of girls this year will make any such attempt more likely to succeed; and it is hoped that all girls are sufficiently interested in the work to take hold of it at the beginning of the year, with the intention of making it a success.

The girls, however, are not confining their interest in athletics entirely to themselves. A small, but enthusiastic number attended the Athletic Mass Meeting Friday afternoon, as well as the game with Richmond on Saturday and were as well pleased as any with the success of George Washington University.

On next Wednesday our team goes to Annapolis. Are you going along with it? The Navy this year, as shown by her defeat of Princeton last Saturday, has a wonderful team and just now seems to be in the best condition. Our men, too, are practicing hard and under the hands of Coach Rorke are improving daily. Depend upon it they will put up a game at Annapolis of which no one need be ashamed. Being assured that our team will make a good showing, why should not the student body to do the same to support it. At this, our first game with Annapolis, let us at least show them that we have loyalty and spirit enough to back up our own men. The presence of a large corps of rooters will give strength and nerve to our team which no amount of practice could impart. The football management has succeeded in getting good rates and everything is as favorable for the trip. Under these circumstances there is no excuse for not sending down a strong and loyal representation. Talk it up to the men in your class and urge every one to go. Hand in your name at once to your class president and promise to go so that you won't change your mind before the week is out. Let the cry of all be "On to Annapolis and victory."

To all those so closely associated with the University and its affairs as to be listed in the directory of Officers of Government, Administration, and Instruction, we have this to say: We have placed your name on the subscription list of the "University Hatchet" for the coming year. We are presuming that all whose names appear in the said directory should be subscribers and that they intend to be. If you receive the paper and do not desire to continue as a subscriber we respectfully ask that you will notify us and your name will be taken from the list. We are doing this at the suggestion of a number of those whose names appear in the list referred to, and we trust that it will meet with the approval of all. We call your attention to the fact that if the subscriptions are paid prior to December 1st the rate is $1.25, after that date $1.50. Remittances should be made to the Manager or may be handed to any one of the editors or dropped in the news boxes.

"How do you do, Mr. Advertiser? I saw your announcement in the "University Hatchet" and I came in to examine your line." "Well, I am glad you have. We are always glad to welcome George Washington students." The student makes a purchase and gets a special discount. The merchant is pleased and continues his ad in the paper. The paper is benefited and improves. The student gets his wares at a discount and receives a better paper.

Commencing with our next issue, the addresses will be placed on the back cover by means of an addressograph instead of by hand as has been our custom. We believe this will prove to be a more efficient method and because of its neatness will be appreciated by our readers.

We have to request that if your address is not correct on this issue that you will notify us immediately so that we can have the correction made before the names go into type as is necessary for addressing by the new method.

The Utile Dulci Societas.

The Utile Dulci Societas is the name of a society which was founded in May 1904.

After the examinations were over, Mr. W. R. Barnesby, a member of the '07 Medicals, asked some of his class-mates and Dr. Francis P. Morgan to accept of his hospitality at his home in The Brunswick, on the evening of May 16th. Each one was in a mood to enjoy himself and to make the most of the evening. The mind needed a rest or a diversion from the drudgery and excitement of the first examination, the stomach needed to be more slowly fed and in fact, the entire system required a recreation. This was not the Utopia that Sir Thomas More described, but it was a "real Utopia," the ideal social pleasure, nor was this a pleasure in vain, for realizing the pleasantness and profitableness of the evening, Dr. Morgan spoke of the advantages students might receive by social gatherings and suggested that a society, consisting of those students present, thirteen in all, be formed. This suggestion "was seeds sown in good ground" for it met the hearty approval of all and with but little discussion officers were elected and committees appointed. These went to work with a vim, drew up its constitution and by-laws and at the next meeting, the date of which was selected by the President, adopted them. The society was then in a position to prosper and has from that time to the present.

The purpose of this society is, as the name indicates, usefulness combined with pleasure.

It is a society of the University, being composed of Medicals and Dentals of the '07 and '06 classes respectively, and for the University. It is one of "good fellowship," and this good fellowship is not restricted to its members, but to the members of George Washington University.

At the regular meeting, which is held on the first Thursday in each month, a luncheon is served, followed by the reading of a paper bearing upon some portion of the extensive but vastly important and interesting work being so proficiently carried on throughout the University; this paper then becomes the subject of a short discussion. A spirit of college enthusiasm is not a thing neglected because we are proud to float her colors and they do float as do those of "pink and green," the society colors, as also the pink carnation is a feast to the senses of sight and smell.

President Needham, in his opening address to the Medical and Dental Classes, spoke of the large amount of benefit students might derive by the forming of a similar society, whether President Needham had read of the formation of this society or not, we do not know, but this we know, he could not have expressed the ideas of the Utile Dulci Societas much better even if he had. He spoke of the abolishing of quiz classes which are apt to bias the mind of a young man but let the student solve for himself the mystical and intricate problems found in medical science, and there are many. After this is done, it would be profitable, he said, if class-mates met and discussed the work among themselves, quizzed one another, thus giving each the opportunity to express what he knows, thereby fixing it firmly in his own mind and benefiting the others likewise. These are our society motives as well as fraternal.

The membership is limited to twenty-six. One of our members, J. L. Smith, left the University and we congratulate him and the Dental faculty on his being able to enter the second year at the University of Pennsylvania. Honesty, perseverance, and temperance are cherished and I believe each member is interested in carrying out successfully the proposed scheme and is loyal to his colors.

We recognize the fact that strength is accomplished only by fidelity, therefore the motto: "Fidelitas nostra fortitudo."

Officers: President, J. R. Biggs; Vice-President, W. R. Barnesby; Secretary, H. S. Forrer; Treasurer, H. A. Meyer. Other charter members, E. T. Stephenson, I. H. Legg, R. C. Wallace, W. J. G. Thomas, H. I. Stout, L. M. Carter, J. W. Taylor, J. L. Smith, and H. V. Johnston; new members, C. F. Bowers, W. V. Levy, and D. G. Willets.

Columbian College

On Thursday evening last, the Freshmen Class of the College held a meeting to arrange the class. Mr. Whitmore, of the Junior Class, called the meeting to order, and after a brief discussion, the election of officers was proceeded to with the following results:

President—Mr. Ray French.
First Vice-President—Miss Evans.
Second Vice-President—Mr. Frank West.
Secretary—Miss Fields.
Treasurer—Mr. Hursey.

The first Wednesday of each month was set for the regular meeting of the class. Mr. Van Vliet, Miss Fields and Mr. Van Vleck, were appointed a committee to decide upon a class yell, colors, etc.

It was not certain as to whether or not the Sophomores would attempt to interfere, but if there was any such idea on their part, the number of Freshmen present soon dispelled it, and the meeting proceeded without trouble. The attendance was large and great interest was manifested in the proceedings.

Following the custom of the Freshmen Classes, a dance will be given in the course of a few weeks to the upper classmen of the College.

The inter-class foot ball game between the College Sophomores and Freshmen will take place on University Field, Thursday at 2. p. m. Both teams have had some practice, and are hopeful of a good game. The Freshmen have much more material to pick from, but the Sophs are fortunate in having a large part of last year's team back. The line-up of the teams will be something as follows:

1907	Position	1908
Macdonald.....	Left tackle.....	Fogler
C. D. Taylor.....	Left guard.....	French
Block.....	Center.....	Waters
Newbold.....	Right guard.....	Winship
King.....	Right tackle.....	Myers
Wolfe.....	Right end.....	Brooks
Keene.....	Quarterback.....	Magruder
Wilkie.....	Right half back.....	Hursey
M. S. Taylor.....	Full back.....	Turkenton

Other candidates: 1907, Bragaw, Behyner, Cook, De Grange, Brown; 1908, Canby, Mecklin, Davis, Chase, Reid, Abert.

Kappa Alpha

The Kappa Alpha Fraternity entertained last Thursday evening at an informal smoker about fifty members of the first year law class: there were also present representatives from the other departments of George Washington University. A royal good time was voted by all those present.

Psi Omega

The members of Psi Omega Dental Fraternity gave an informal smoker at the Frat. house, 1226 15th street, N. W., last Saturday evening.

The rooms were tastefully decorated, the occasion being the first function of the season, and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all the guests present, amongst whom were Doctors R. Walton and C. L. Constantini, of the Dental Faculty.

After the following programme was rendered the guests repaired to the dining rooms, where supper was served, after which the pipes of friendship were lighted.

Fraternity Songs; Opening Address, Mr. G. A. Fletcher; Piano Solo, Mr. Clements; Our Fraternity, Dr. E. E. Belford; Cello Solo, M. E. Harrison, R. S. Clinton; accompanist;; Student Advice, Dr. R. Walton; Vocal Solo, W. T. O'Brien, Mr. Ake, accompanist; Toastmaster, J. C. Robt. Schumacher.

Pi Beta Phi

On Thursday, the 18th, the Pi Beta Phi girls gave a luncheon in the Fine Arts room in the Tower. Miss Barber presided over the chafing dish most gracefully and added great pleasure to the affair by the menu. The Fraternity girls and their guests spent a very merry hour, and it is hoped to repeat the experience many times. Those present were the Misses McPherson, McIlhenny, Barber, Watkins, Bethune, Cochran, McCleary, Taylor, McCoy, Albert, Hoyt, Merrill and White, and Messrs. Lamb, Albert, Whitmore, King, Hemmick, McCoy, and Winship.

Dental Notes

A large and enthuastic meeting of the Freshmen, Junior and Senior Dental Classes was held Thursday, October 13, 1904, for the purpose of electing officers and adopting a constitution for the ensuing year. Owing to the limited time available for the meeting the adoption of the constitution was postponed.

Adelbert Maurice Bassford, '05, of Illinois, was chosen President by acclamation, the other officers elected being as follows: Vice-President, J. Winslow Taylor, '06, of Maryland; Treasurer, Mark Carleton, Bullis, '05, of Michigan, and Secretary, Robert Boyd Lambert, '06, of South Dakota.

Dr. Walton's course in Technics for the members of the Senior Class commenced Tuesday, October 18th.

Dr. Dawson will assist Dr. Walton this year.

The Freshman class began their course in Prosthetic Technics Tuesday, October 18th, under the supervision of Dr. Wolfe. Dr. Wolfe, it is understood, is to be assisted by Dr. Rice.

Dr. Constantini is to have the chair in Orthodontia this year. His lectures to the Seniors are to commence Wednesday, October 19th.

Dr. Hagan held his opening lecture in Oral Surgery, Wednesday, October 12th.

REPUBLICANS ATTENTION—

Saturday evening, 8 p. m. That is the date and time at which all Republicans of the University are asked to assemble in University Hall, cor H and 15th streets, for the purpose of organizing a Republican Club.

Speeches will be made by members of the faculty and students. A general rally and jollification is expected. All Republicans should be out. The addresses will be short and spicy.

The organization will be perfected and officers elected. All the Republican voters becoming members of the club will have special preference in the matter of transportation favors.

The organization of these clubs at the various universities throughout the country are under the direct supervision of George Deal Genung, Ass't Campaign Manager.

MEDICAL NOTES—

On last Friday night the Senior Class in the Medical Department completed the election of officers with the following results:

President—W. J. French.
Vice-President—H. E. Baldwin.
Secretary—Glenn I. Jones.
Treasurer—G. W. Stiles, Jr.
Executive Committee:
M. H. Watters,
E. L. Osborne,
D. P. Bush,
C. C. Ammerman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fred Eamic have sent out invitations to the marriage of their daughter, George Virginia, to Mr. Robert Montgomery Estes, Wednesday, October, 26th, St. James Reformed Church, Lovettsville, Va.

Mr. Estes is a member of the Third Year Medical Class, and a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity.

The Freshman Class of the Department of Medicine have organized with the following officers:

President—C. C. Weidemann,
Vice-President—H. E. Simons,
Secretary—J. R. Littlefield,
Treasurer—J. W. Sherwood.

News has been received here of the recent death of Dr. John E. Wellner, at Mercy Hospital, Pittsburg, Pa. Dr. Wellner entered the Medical Department of this university in 1900 and completed three year's work here, maintaining a high degree of scholarship through all of his work. On completing his third year in Columbian he secured a transfer to Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, from which institution he graduated with high honors last June. After graduating he took a competitive examination for a position as Resident Physician in Mercy Hospital at Pittsburg. He passed his examination successfully, and was the first of eighty contestants to be appointed. Here he contracted typhoid fever, which at the end of two weeks terminated in his death. Dr. Wellner was a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, and has numerous friends in Washington who will be grieved to learn the sad news of his death.

Jurisprudence Jottings

Fred M. Dearing, M. Dip. '04, has been appointed to a position in the United States Diplomatic service and is now attached to the legation at Havana, Cuba.

Karl Payne, LL. M., '03 is the Democratic candidate for attorney general of the State of Idaho.

Paul Nash, M. Dip. '00, has returned to Washington after a short diplomatic service in Siam, but expects shortly to be assigned to a European post.

Law Notes

The election of officers in the Second Year Class will be held the first of next week. This is one of the most enthusiastic classes in the University, and a great deal of interest is being manifested in the coming election. McLean, one of the most popular men in the class, has yielded to the importunities, of his friends to become a candidate, and the situation has assumed a different aspect since his decision.

The following clipping is taken from the Washington Post of last Sunday:

Cards have been issued announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Alice B. Fleming, formerly of Hamilton, Ohio, to Mr. Warren R. Choate, the ceremony to be performed at Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church, Sixteenth and Madison streets, Monday evening, October 1, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Choate is the chief clerk of the Bureau of Corporations, Department of Commerce and Labor, and is widely known in social, business, and official circles, he having been for a number of years a prominent young attorney in this city prior to his entrance into the government service.

Mr. Choate is an alumnus of our University, having received the degree of Doctor of Civil Law in 1901.
